“ Christine was my friend, colleague, care taker and a confident. My sincerest condolences to the children, family and loved ones. Your daughter, wife, mother, family and friend was beautiful, kind and so caring. She truly adored her children and family, and that is what we would discuss every day in her "corner." Christine lit up the office with her beauty and kindness. May you rest in peace Christine. I will miss you in a different way now, but will always remember your love, beauty, and kindness. Holy Father, we ask in your son's name, Jesus, comfort Christine's family and protect her children always, may the the perpetual light shine upon you. Amen

“ Christine was my nurse practitioner, and she always made "having to go to the doctor" a pleasant experience. She was always kind and always had a smile ready to share. My heart is breaking for her colleagues, friends and family.

“ I am the medical assistant that was with Christine in her new job in NC. The short time we were together she worked her way right into my heart. We enjoyed talking about her children. She was getting excited about being a grandma. She loved her daughter and was telling me how they had gone shopping for sweaters and boots together because they had no winter clothes. We had been talking about Halloween and taking her son trick or treating and making some monster munch using choc chips instead of m&ms because of his peanut allergy. Christine loved her Aunt and Uncle here and their cooking too! She was excited that her mom and dad were thinking of coming here as well. I am not letting her death be in vain. It will remind me to live my life to the fullest and to make sure the people in my life who are loved and are important know it. RIP Christine.

“ TO OUR DAUGHTER

you are a thousand winds that blow,
You are a diamond glints on snow
You are the gentle autumn rain
You are the sunlight on a ripened grain
You are the soft stars that shine at night
You are the quite birds in circled flight
You are the sunshine that warms my heart
You are the one to mend my broken heart
When I awaken in the morning hush
You are my swift uplifting rush
I will not stand there and cry for you. for you are not there
For with the lord , you are everywhere

Loving you for eternity
Your grieving mother and father

“ As a long time friend of Christine's sister in law, my sincere condolences go out to The DeGiulio and Brown families. The DeGiulio Family invited me into their home to celebrate with them so I wouldn't be alone when my children were here visiting their father while we were living out of state. I will always remember Christine as a warm and loving person.

“ Christine took such pride in her work and her family - this was clear in our every interaction. She was a genuine and kind person and it was an honor to have known her even for the short period that I did. She will always be a part of our work family and we will miss her greatly. Sending lots of love and prayers to your family during this trying time. - Jorden Dowler

“ My prayers and condolences go out to the Brown family. Christine was only with us for a short time, but in this time she had become very close to her team at Carolinas HealthCare System and was such a wonderful provider to the patients she cared for. She seem so happy in her new role. We will miss her very much. Steve Jones

“ My sincere condolences to the Brown family. Christine was a great addition to our CHS-Davidson Urgent Care. Her staff here loved her, and the patients she took care of said she had an excellent bedside manner and took the time to listen. We will miss her, she is gone too soon.
