“ To say that I have 1 memory would be an understatement. I can only say that we always saw matante Guigitte as my father's twin. Together it was sheer comedy between the two of them. Two peas in a pod, always true to the gut laughter. One checked the other and in the end you always walked away with a lasting laughable memory. My father was born on March 23, 1933 and you were born 9 months later, which explains the similarities between you two. You will be missed dearly, thank you for the laughter. May you rest in eternal Peace, until we meet again.
