“ For God so loved the world that He gave His one and only Son, that whoever believes in Him shall not perish but have eternal life (John 3:16). I miss you so much Marvina, Miss V! When I first heard, I felt like my heart ripped out of my chest. I have been okay but I was not ready to let you go. We started the same counseling job at the same agency, the same day. I am so happy we stayed close the last 3 years and that I just got to see you, put my arms around you and talking about our careers as we always did. Your angelic voice still rings in my ears. I always knew this was a possibility, but I never prepared myself for this or figured the day would come. My heart will always miss you. I love you. I know you knew that. You just looked asleep at your viewing, and I was waiting for you to get up and play hookie at your own viewing and go to Red Lobster with Johnetta, Charline and I. Your viewing was the last time the 4 of us will ever be in the same room again. However! The 4 of us put our faith in Christ Jesus, and as we know, our relationship with a believer does not end when they pass, it just changes...until we get to be together again in the Kingdom of Heaven. “Let not your hearts be troubled. Believe in God; believe also in Me. In my Father’s house are many rooms. If it were not so, would I have told you that I go to prepare a place for you? And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to Myself, that where I am you may be also. And you know the way to where I am going”-Jesus Christ (John 14:1-4). I know the Lord prepared a room for you, and is preparing one for me as well...though I expect you to help decorate it for me until it is my time. I love you and miss you so very much and that will never change, no matter how much time passes. I have felt regret that we have not been as close as we were due to how crazy our work schedules just got to being and how invested we both are in our clients' well-being. Never will I allow myself to be too busy for the people I love again. I knew you didn't mind though as you were just as busy. If anyone is actually reading this, know we cannot feel guilty for what we wished we could have done differently or not being there in the final moments, because everything happened the way it was supposed to. Every conversation, every feeling, every thing that was suppose to happen-- did. The heart of man plans his way, but the Lord leads our steps (Proverbs 16:9). Destiny was fulfilled, everything that was supposed to be, was. If any of Marvina's friends or family want someone confidential to talk to, my counsel will always be free, just like I know you would offer to my loved ones Miss V. Just send me a message, anytime!As much as I was not ready to let you go, I am confident you are with God and have no more pain EVER again. You fought the good fight and earned the right to be with God. God lived in you Marvina and I feel so blessed I got to know you and be a small part of your 28 young years on this earth. Salvation is to be found through Christ alone; in all the world there is no one else whom God has given who can save us. I am telling you the truth: he who believes has eternal life (Acts 4:12 and John 6:47). I love YOU Marvina. Until I see your soul again, angel. <3

“ Marvina was a beautiful young lady. She worked for some time in the library while she was a student and it was a joy to work along-side her. I will always remember her warm smile, generous nature, and her willingness to share her talents with others. May all of her family and friends find peace, she will be missed.
