December 20, 2000 - June 19, 2021

“ Will, there will never be a combination of words able to describe the kind of person you are. Thank you for taking care of me, loving me, protecting me, motivating me, and building me up. Thank you for always matching your words to your actions.

Anywhere I was with William felt like home. His positive energy was contagious to anyone that he came into contact with☀️

I keep replaying Seeing him charge at me full speed, with his arms wide open screaming “hi pretty girl hi baby hi beautiful!” I love the way his face lit up every time we were together, the way he would happy dance, the random growling 🐻 he’d do when he was so happy and didn’t know how to express it, the way he’d start doing stretches at 2:45 AM and say “get up and do it with me cmon”, the way he would talk in his sleep about vegetables and sausage, the way he wouldn’t let me move even an inch while he asleep without waking up and saying “hey where do you think you’re going?” I miss Will singing to me and telling me the songs he’d been listening to finally have meaning.

Some nights we would lay in the driveway, stare at the moon and clouds and talk for hours until the sun came up, and he would talk about how much he loves and feels the need to protect his family. The women in his life meant the world to him. He loved to tell me about the many ways he was just like his momma, he’d say how lucky he felt to be the same person that she is. Sometimes Will and I would stare at each other and cry out of happiness and appreciation for one another. He changed my life in every and any way possible, I’ll never forget the time Will said “ya know ever since you met me everything about you has changed, your view on life, even your bad posture.” Im glad he knew how much he lifted me up (literally) haha

I adored Will the way he adored me and I’m grateful he allowed me to. I am so grateful his beautiful heart matched with mine. The love he put into the world was never wasted🐻❤️ One of a kind soul. Sweet Angel I miss you Always.

“ Willam,

I feel like there is a million things to say. Let me start off by saying , thank you, thank you for putting a smile on my face every interaction we had, thank you for checking on me constantly, thank you for educating everyone , thank you for being so kind and giving . We started target together 2 years ago, we instantly clicked , we could just look at eachother and start laughing . You would always call me a meme lol. We all knew when you arrived to work , clapping your hands and rubbing them together , scheming haha. You made everyone feel included and important . I cry when I pass by your department, I expect you to be at the end of aisle D32 folding something and saying how loud all my keys are. I miss your loud voice , how it carried throughout the building, Saying “hey bud” to everyone haha. Target stresses me out and so does my position but you would fuel me to keep going . You had the best attitude in the world and such a positive mindset, that’s rare. You were a rare person. I’m so proud of you, you have truly changed my life forever. Rest easy bud <3

“ William,
I will truly miss you! I miss hearing you talk about me making my different face expressions under my mask, our deep conversations, you bringing me snacks and putting them in my office, you taking my mini popcorn packs out of my office, our inside jokes to one another, you stretching everywhere in the store, you laughing at me because I was always out of breath when I was pregnant and riding in the electric cart around the store, I miss your laugh your smile and your spirit.
